

We are pleased to share that four of our residents have been selected as finalist for American College of Physicians National Abstract Competition 2010, to be held in Toronto. We congratulate our residents for keeping the tradition of excellence at national level.

Dr Waqas Ahmed and Dr Naseer Khan will present their clinical vignette abstract, “In patients with cocaine abuse, think about their kidneys too”, whereas Dr Madan Gowda and Dr Anthony Alvarado will present their research abstract, “With in the broad range of renal function as assessed by serum creatinine, the higher the creatinine, higher the homocysteine and lower is HDL cholesterol, with resultant risk for cardiovascular disease.”

Our residents won this competition last year. We wish them best of luck this year too.
